THERE ARE THOSE WHO GET A DEGREE. AND THOSE WHO

For some, college is an event. A milestone. A means to an end. But there are those who view college as much more than that. To these people, college is a way to seize new opportunities. To change the world around them. To make a difference.

You're about to embark on one of the most important journeys of your life. Before you do, ask yourself something. Will you simply get your degree, or will you do something great?

Welcome to the Erickson School. Where those who dare do more.
